AND WILL LET GEORGIA HAVE CASH.

Te Suggests a Means by Which a Colored Agricultural School May Be Started. Other States Held Up.

WASHINGTON, January 15 .- [Special.]-I had talk with the commissioner of education Harris, today, about the money for the Georgia agricultural colleges. He says as oon as Governor Northen complies with the emands of the department, as set forth in these dispatches in Tuesday's Constitution the money will be turned over to him. He says that it is absolutely necessary that the ney be divided upon the ratio of 47 per cent to the colored school and 53 per cent to the white one, as the last school census taken by the state of Georgia shows that the per cent of lored children between the school ages in proportion to the total population of children of he school age is 43 per cent. The state must also provide an agricultural school for the blacks before the money can be paid. The state, however, he says, has the authority to use the money now in the state treasury from the land script fund, which should have gone to the Atlanta university had it complied rith the requirements of the law.

In order to get the money at once, he says the state may simply rent a school for the negroes and start it in operation. It may, he mys, run it as a side issue to the white school t Athens, and have lectures from the same assors for the time being.

SOFTENED JUST A TRIFLE. Harris seems to think he has delayed Geor gis long enough, and is now willing to give up e money as soon as Governor Northen wil comply with his decision. And, by the way, the second year's appro priation of $16,000 will be due within three eeks. Thus, when Georgia draws her money she will get $31,000, or two years' appropria tion at once. While none of this money can be used to buy the land or buildings of the colored school, it may be used to purchase aratus, stock, etc. Georgia is not the only state that has been deprived of its money under this act. Both South Carolina and Alabama are awaiting for theirs with no prospects of getting it very soon. The South Carolina legislature has made no provision for dividing the money between the races, and until the governor does so in such a mer as will be satisfactory to Commissioner Harris, the state will be kept out of its

Alabama has two or three agricultural colleges, as the act provides that the money shall go to but one white and one colored college in a state, and as the legisla-ture has made no choice which school shall get the money, Mr. Harris will not allow it to be paid. Until the governor or the legislature of Alabama makes some deion in this matter the state will go without

The Free Coinage Bill. The passage of a free coinage bill, pure and le, without additions or qualifications, by the senate last night, means much to the peo of this country.

rit was the free coinage bill, offered by Mr. Vest, as a substitute for the much amended republican caucus measure, that finally passed. The senate's action has been the talk of the ountry today. The free coinage men of both parties are almost jubilant, while the gold bugs of Wall street commenced the first thing this morning bearing the market heavily in to attempt to demonstrate house and the president that coinage law would unsettle values and se a gigantic panie in this country. Such ction, however, cannot stop the tidal wave u, yes. We make that is rising and flowing inward at a greater velocity each day for free coinage. The house we manufacture inage committee has been packed against it, but in face of the great pressure from the country they will not date pigeon-hole the bill. deplore, "there's no Indeed, they will report it soon, and as Reed in trade truth of has stated that he will resort to no arbitrary

If he signs it, the east will be arrayed against him. Those who know him best say he will not dare veto it, but will at tach his signature, giving as his reason for doing so the almost universal demand of the ountry. Members of both branches of congress have een discussing the senate's action all day. The passage of free coinage is recognized a an event of great importance, and one preg ant with political significance. Every-knew free coinage would adopted, but no one expected the senate finance committee to be knocked out completely. The action is, however, aplauded not only as a great democratic victory at a great victory of the people over the gold It will likewise, in all probability, satisfy he extreme craving for fluancial relief in the outh and west, and perhaps prevent a recourse to the more extreme measures in the way of easury schemes, fiat money, etc. Sherman, Hoar, Hawley and all the gold bug sena tors take their defeat very gloomily. They feel outraged that the republican caucus should have been torn literally to pieces, and then chucked away for what they consider wild legislation. They say the democrats are responsible, and must bear burden-just what the democrats want

The effect of the passage of this bill upon Mr. Grover Cleveland is a subject upon which here is division. His friends, who follow him blindly, say they are pleased, for with this a law, the free coinage issue will be ved by 1892, and Mr. Cleveland will be eved from the embarrassment of being on unpopular side of the question, and the stacle in the way of his renomination in to removed. The anti-Cleveland men, Curer, express a contrary opinion.
Ith Cleveland fighting his own arty on this issue, the party wil ainly not turn round and return good for neither will it turn the other cheek, but the language of Ingalls, "It will smite him der the butt end of his left ear." Indeed, majority of members say whether free inage becomes a law at this session or not, Cleveland has killed himself with his be the next democratic nominee.

eleven less than a quorum, so that if the dem ocratic senators should resort to the plan of refusing to vote and in this are joined by Stanford, Teller, Wolcott, Jones of Nevada, stewart and Washburn (republicans who voted with them last night) the advocates of the elections bill would require the attendance of six of those seven actual absentees before they could proceed with the measure, or could act upon the cloture rule. On the other hand, if the six republicans who voted with the democrats last night should not go to the length of technically absenting themselves, and should content themselves with casting their votes in opposition to the republican majority, the latter would have an even quorum exclusive of the vice president's vote.

THE FREE COINAGE BILL. Full Text of the Measure as it Passed the Senate. WASHINGTON, January 15 .- The silver bill as passed by the senate last night is a free coinage measure, pure and simple; free from all national bank and bond legislation contained in the finan-cial bill. With the exception of slight technical mendments and the omission of the provision for covering into the treasury the national bank redemption fund, the bill is like that passed by the senate last year, which was the basis of the empromise embodied in the present law. The text is as follows:

prevent the bill having an opportunity for consideration.

There will not be a meeting of the coinage committee until next Wednesday. At the meeting held yesterday it was ascertained that a comparatively full attendance could not be obtained earlier than Wednesday, and when an adjournment for the week was taken, it was with the understanding that an attempt to reach a decisive vote would not be made on that day, though it is proposed that almost daily meetings shall be held thereafter until a final conclusion is reached.

Mr. Bartine, of Nevada, one of the outspoken republican advocates of free coinage on the committee, said today that he was confident of getting the silver bill back to the house. It might be necessary to report back some compromise measure, but the silver men would not tie themselves so that they could not nove amendments in the house. He thought the sentiment towards silver had grown much more favorable than it was last session, and that a good many republicans were not inclined to underate the influence silver had on the recent election.

The action of the senate in taking up the elections bill had also removed some of the feeling on the part of the republican friends of silver in the house because it showed, what he had known right along, that there was no agreement between the silver senators and the democrats except that sliver should receive consideration. Democrats in the house today insisted on their full parliamentary rights of debate on every proposition presented to the house, the animating motive being the objection to the elections bill.

THE DAY IN THE HOUSE.

The District Appropriation Bill-The Silver Pool Investigation. WASHINGTON, January 15.—After the journal of yesterday had been read, Mr. McMillin, of Tennessee, objected to certain statements therein concerning yesterday's proceedings with reference to limiting the debate on the district appropriation bill and moved to amend.

Mr. Cannon moved to table this motion and the vens and nays were demanded and ordered. By a vote of yeas 128, nays 197, the motion was tabled and the journal approved.

A DEMOGRATIC PROTEST.

Mr. Dockery, of Missouri, was upon the floor in criticism of the policy of the republicans in increasing lightlities which a democratic house would cerning vesterday's proceedings with reference to

The reception of this message by the democratic side was cordual and effusive, and Mr. Bland ex-pressed the hope that early faction would be had

The bill went on the speaker's table.

The speaker announced the committee to investigate the silver pool question: Messrs. Dingley Payne, Rowell, Dockery and Oates.

DOCKERY ASKS TO BE EXCUSED.

Mr. Dockery said that three weeks ago he had saked the speaker to appoint a special committee.

asked the speaker to appoint a special committe and had told him that he felt free to do so, as he could not accept service on the committee, inasmuch as it was alleged that a democratic representative from Missouri on this floor was interested in the silver pool. He had made a similar statement to the speaker yesterday. He was quite unwilling to be placed in the position in which he had been placed that of investigating a question involving his own honor as a representative, or that of his democratic colleagues from Missouri. His judgment as to its proper course had been fortified by the opinion of his friends. Therefore, with great respect to the speaker, he asked to be excused from the duty that had been placed upon him. He would like the speaker to corroborate his statement as to his declination.

The speaker gave a hearty corroboration, statand had told him that he felt free to do so, as he

The Ex-Adjutant General of South Carolina Said to Be Over Five Thousand Dollars Short in His Accounts.

COLUMBIA, S. C., January 15 .- Last night Governor Tillman summoned a number newspaper reporters to his office and laid before them a communication from Adjutant General Hugh L. Farley, disclosing that his predecessor, General Milledge L. Bonham, son of the late ex-Governor Bonham, was a defaulter to the amount of about $5,000. Secrecy was enjoined until tonight.

The state appropriates $10,000 to the $12,000 annually to assist in maintaining the militia and it has been customary for the past few years for the adjutant general to draw the full amount and disburse to companies by his check. The defalcation was brought to light. by a protest of General Bonham's check issued to troop A, First South Carolina cavalry, at Brunson, whose commander notified this department, and it was then ascertained that other checks had gone to protest at the Carolina National bank, and it is also stated that the National Guard, colored, have not received heir quota of the appropriation. General Bonham will soon submit a statement for publication. He has not been arrested.

TWO SENATORS MUST BE ELECTED. A Queer State of Things Developed in Mississippi.

Jackson, Miss., January 15.—[Special.]—Owing to the change made by the recent constitutions convention, making the term of members of the legislature four years instead of two, as under the old constitution, the legislature to be elected in November (in its entirety, the holding over of sen ators being knocked out by the new constitution) will have to choose successors to both Senators Walthall and George. Under the old order of things Walthall's successor would not have been elected till 1894, and by the legislature elected in 1893, but as his term expires in March, 1895, it is certain that when section 36 of the new state constitution is considered in connection with section 14 of the revised statutes of the United States, 1878, his successor must be elected at the regular session of the legislature in January, 1892. This fact was only developed today, it only having been supposed that George's successor would be chosen in 1892, and the campaign for legislators up to this time has only been discussed and planned on that line. Now, that two "sedatorial seats" are in it, instead of one, the situation intensifies. ators being knocked out by the new constitution

DENYER, Col., January 15.—The row in the lower house of the legislature, which began Friday, was renewed yesterday. A began Friday, was renewed yesterday. A motion to adopt the journal of Friday, which contained the appointment of the house committees, was defeated by the combine, after the two houses filloustering. The speaker's party then moved adjournment, which was declared carried, though the utmost commotion and calls of the roll and calls for the yeas and nays were made. Before the members could leave the house, Brown, leader of the combine, moved that the position of the speaker of the house be declared vacant. He announced the motion as carried by a vote of 28-70-21. Mr. White, of Custer county, was chose speaker and, amid the greatest commotion, the house adjourned. The governor has been called upon to take action in the matter and seriod trouble is feared today.

THE GOVERNORS' SUGGESTION In Case the Federal Election Bill Should Become a Law.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., January 15.—The govrnor's message to the legislature contains this paragraph:

paragraph:

"There is pending in Congress a measure intended to extend federal control to congressional elections. I forbear discussing at length this most dangerous and objectionable measure, believing its passage improbable in the present stage of public sentiment throughout the country. Should it become a law, however, I would strongly recommend a change of date for holding state and country elections, in order to remove them from the danger of federal interference."

DAMAGED BY FIRE.

The Machinery of the "Texas" in the Rich

The Machinery of the "Texas" in the Richmond, Works.

RICHMOND, Va., January 15.—The damage to the boilers, plates and other machinery for the battle ship, Texas, injured in the fire, last night, at the Richmond Locomotive and Machine Works, will not be very heavy, nor will the ship's completion be delayed to any great extent by this fire The machinery in the building burned was very valuable. A portion of it was put in expressly to do government work, at a cost of $50,000.

The principal damage to the Texas machinery, will be in the polished rod work, bars, and plates, the latter being constructed from a peculiar kind of metal. That which has already passed inspection is insured for $285,000 in the Philadelphia Manufacturers' Mutual Insurance Company. The building desgroyed will be rebuilt at once.

There are twenty-three boilers for the new steamship Texas in the ruins. Experts are of the opinion that they are not damaged to any great extent, but Chief Engineer Brooke, of the United States navy, under whose supervision they were built, says that while to all appearances the furnaces had not been injured, they had been heated by fire and suddenly cooled by water, and the probabilities are that they are injured to such an extent that it would not be proper to allow them to be placed in a ship on board of which there will be a large body of men. If at any future time an accident should occur to the bollers, causing a loss of life he would be held responsible for the same; consequently he does not intent to take any chances, but will ask for a board of survey to inspect them.

About 10 o'clock R. B. Barnes and H. L. Bandy discovered a fire in the rear of Hodge Bros. large furniture store on Tallapoosa street, and gave the alarm. Several citizens promptly responded, broke open the doors and extinguished the fire. The fire company also was on hand in a few minutes, but its services were not needed. The loss was about $200. covered by nsdrance.

GENERAL BONHAM IS A DEFAULTER. THE FORMULA OF HIS GREAT LYMPH.

scribes His Experiments with Guinea Pigs, and Later with Human Beings. His Wonderful Discoveries.

BERLIN, January 15 .- The long talked of secret of the ingredients entering into the composition of Professor Koch's famous lymph, is given today to the world at large Professor Koch says:

Since publishing, two moutes ago, the results of my experiments with the new remedy for tuber-culosis, many physicians who received the preparations have been enabled to become acq with its properties, through their own experi-ments. So far as I have been able to review the statements published and communications received by letter, my indi-cations have been fully and completely cations have been fully and completely confirmed. The general consensus of opinion is that the remedy has specific effect upon tubercular tassues, and is, therefore, applicable as a very delicate and sure agent of discovering latent and diagnosing doubtful tuberculosis processes.

ITS CURATIVE EFFECTS. Regarding the curative effects of the remedy. most reports agree that, despite the comparative short duration of application, many patients have shown more or less pronounced improvement. It has been affirmed that in not a few cases even a cure has been established. Standing quite by it-self it is asserted that the remedy may not only be dangerous in cases which have advanced too far-a fact which may forthwith be conceded-During the past six weeks, I, myself, have had the opportunity to bring together further experi-ences touching the curative effects of the diag-nostic application of the remedy in the cases of about 150 sufferers from tuberculosis of the most varied types in this city and in hospitals. I can only say that everything I have latterly seen accords with my previous observation. There has een nothing to modify in what I before reported. WHY IT WAS KEPT SECRET. As long as it was only a question of proving the accuracy of my indications it was needless for any one to know what the remedy contained or whence it was derived. On the contrary, subse ent testing would necessarily be more unbiased, e less people knew of the remedy itself. Now, after sufficient confirmatory testing, the importance of the remedy is proved, my next task is to extend my study of the remedy beyond the field where it has hitherto been applied, and if possible to applying the principle underlying the discovery to other diseases. This task naturally lemands a full knowledge of the remedy. I therefore consider that the time has arrived when the requisite indications in this direction when the requisite indications in this direction shall be made. This is done as follows:

Professer Koch describes in detail the method by which he arrived at his discovery in his experiments with guinea pigs, bringing him to the result that anything intended to exercise a healing effect on the tuberculous process must be a soluble substance, which would be lixivated, to a certain extent, by fluids of the body floating around the tubercle bacilli and be transferred in a fairly rapid manner to the juices of the body, while the substance producing the suppuration apparently remains behind in tubercular bacilli or dissolves but very slowly.

REWARDED WITH SUCCESS. REWARDED WITH SUCCESS.

The only important point was, therefore, to induce outside the body the process going on inside, if possible, and to extract from it the tubercular if possible, and to extract from it the tubercular bacili along the curative substance. This denarded time and toil, until I finally succeeded with the side of the two per cent solution of alycerine in obtaining an effective substance from tubercular bacili. With the fluid so obtained I made further experiments on animals and finally on human beings. These fluids were given to other physicians to enable them to repeat the experiment. The remedy, which is used in the new treatment, consists of glycerine extract, derived from a pure cultivation of tubercle bacili. Into the simple extract there naturally passes from the tubercular bacili, besides an effective substance, all other matter soluble in 50 per cent of glycerine. Consequently it con-Ceived the republicar caucus momination for United States senator to succeed Farwell.

THE INDEPENDENTS SEATED.

PIERRE, S. D., January 15.—As predicted, the independent contestants in the house from Brown county were seated yesterday, several republicans voting with the fusionists on the merits of the case. The republicans fillibustered to merent a contractive matter. Some of these substances can be removed from it tolerably easy. The effective substances is insoluble in absolute alcohol. It can removed from it tolerably easy. The effective substance is insoluble in absolute alcohol. It can be precipitated by it, though not indeed in a pure condition, but still combined with other extractive matter, which is likewise insoluble in alcohol. The coloring matter may also be removed, rendering it possible to obtain from the extract a coloriess, dry substance containing the effective principle and in a much more concentrated form than the original giverine solutions.

For application in practice this purification of giverine extract offers no advantage, because the substances so eliminated are unessential for human organism. The progress of purification would make the cost of the remedy unnecessarily high.

REGARDING THE SUBSTANCES.

REGARDING THE SUBSTANCES. Regarding the constitution of the more effec-tive substances, only a surmise may, for the present, be expressed. It appears to me to be deriva-tive from albuminous bodies having close affinity to them. It does not belong to the group of so-called toxalbumens, and in dialyses goes easily and quickly through a membrane. The proportion of the substance in the extract, to all appearance, is very small. It is estimated at fractious of 1 per cent, which, if correct, we should have to do with a matter whose effect upon organisms attacked with tuberculosis goes far beyond what is known to us of the strongest drugs.

Regarding the manner in which the specific action of the remedy on tuberculous tissue is to be represented, various hypotheses may naturally be put forward. Without wishing to affirm that my view affords the best explanation, I represent the process, myself, in the following manner:

WHAT BAGILLI CONTAINS.

Tubercle bacilli produced when growing in and quickly through a membrane. The proportion Tubercle bacilli produced when growing in ving tissues, the same as in artificial cultivation contain certain substances which variously and totally unfavorably influence living elements in their vicinity. Among these is a substance which in a certain degree of concentration, kills or so alters the living protoplasm that it passes into a condition that Weigert describes as passes into a condition that Weigert describes as coagulation necrosis. In the tissue which thus becomes necrotic, the bacillus finds such unfavorable conditions of nourishment that it can grow no more and sometimes dies.

This explains the remarkable phenomenon that in organs newly attacked with tuberculosis, for instance, in guinea pigs, the spleen and liver which then are covered with gray nodules, numbers of bacilli are found; whereas they are raw, or wholly absent, when an enormously enlarged. bers of bacilli are found; whereas they are raw, or wholly absent, when an enormously enlarged spleen consists almost entirely of a whitish substance in the condition of coagniation necrosis, such as is often found in cases of natural death in tuberculous guinea pigs Single bacillus cannot, therefore, induce necrosis at a great distance, for as soon as necrosis attains a certain extension the growth of bacillus subsides and therewith, the production of the necrotising substance. A kind of reciprocal compensation thus occurs, causing the vegetation of isolated bacilli to remain so extraordinarily restricted as, for instance, in lupus and scrotilous glands. In such cases the necrosis generally extends only to a part of the cells which then, with the further growth, assumed a peculiar form of "riesen zelle" or giant cell.

Thus, in this interpretation follows the first explanation Weigert gives of the production of gland cells. If, now, one increased artificially in the vicinity of bacilii the amount of necrotizing explain the specific influence which the remedy, in accurately defined doses, exercises upon tuberculous tissue, and the possibility of increasing the doses with such remarkable rapidity and remedial effects, which have unquestionably been produced under not too favorable circumstances.

SEVERAL CURES MENTIONED Professor Koch concludes with reference to duration of the remedy of comsumptive patie whom he described as temporarily cured. Two have returned to Moabite hospital for further ob servervation. No bacilli have appeared in their sputum for the past three months and their physical symptoms have gradually and completely disappeared.

is in darkness, except where kerosene lamps and candles relieve the gloom.

The company finds itself without an owner, and hence nobody can stand sponsor for its obligations, or put up any money to enable it to keep up operations. The New York Contract Company that built the plant and owns nearly all the stock, claim that their interest was sold some months ago to a local syndicate, who now refuse to accept it, hence its true ownership is a matter that the courts must settle, and in the meantime a receiver must take charge.

The trouble springs from the character of the gas plant put in here several years ago, which, being on experiment upon a new system that has proved an utter failure, has caused a heavy loss, which the profit from the electric light plant connected therewith was not sufficient to overcome. The consequence is, that the worthless gas plant has involved both in insolvency. The worthlessness of the gas plant was the ground upon which it is said the local syndicate test had an option on the property refused to accept it.

The property is covered by a mortgage of $00,000, to secure an issue of bonds, the semi-annual interest on which was paid December 1st, but the floating debt was so large that the company could not continue operations in the face of a loss of about $400 per month, sustained by continuing to operate the gas plant. Just as soon as a receiver can take charge, an effort will be made to resume operations, but in the event of a sale the plant will be bought and a new gas system put in after the old and approved plant. The contract with the city for electric lights covers all the fixed charges, and the investment well prove a most valuable one parts for Other Scenes.

Athens, Ga., January 15.—[Special.]—A short time since two of Athens's citizens were indicted for highway robbery, and on his trial before a jury of his countrymen, Captain R. H. Lampkin was found guilty of the charge and sentenced by Judge Hutchins to four years' service in the pententiary. A new trial was refused, and the case was carried to the supreme court, where it is now pending. His bond was placed at $1.300, and being unable to give it, Captain Lampkin has been for the last three months confined to the Clarke gounty jail. He went to jail protesting his innocence, and only a few days ago declared that before God he was innocent of the charge. He owned a considerable amount of property, but could not sell it on account of an alleged flaw in the titles. This, however, was straightened out, and yesterday the property peased into the hands of W.C. Orr, who bought it of Captain Lampkin. This morning the necessary bond was given, and the captain pocketing a snug little portion of the money, left the city. It is not known where he has gone. He may return at the proper time, and again he may not. Judge Hutchins to four years' service in the peni-

HIDING THEIR GUNS.

THE INDIANS DETERMINED NOT TO GIVE UP THEIR WEAPONS.

BIG ROAD'S REMARKABLE RETURNS.

Nine Old Worthless Guns from the Whole Gang-The Chiefs to Have Another

Conference with the Military. PINE RIDGE, S. D., via Rushville, January 15.—Short Bull, one of the leading hostiles, was missed from both detachments of the chiefs today. His absence was explained by those who came on the ground that so many wild young men desired to accompany him to the agency he deemed it the dictate of policy to remain at home. In anticipation of the hostiles on the west side of the agency, Genthe breastworks around the Ogallala school, all of which school, all of which command the proposed camping grounds. The Indians have at last come, or rather are coming in, at this writing—noon. They are strung along the west bank of White Clay creek for a distance of two miles. They are mounted, walking, riding on wagons, driving and leading immense herds of ponies. Some of them are entering the friendlies' camp; others are pitcl their tepees on the west bank of the White Clay. These are Ogallalas. The Brules are camping in the bottom around Red Cloud's building. A SCOUT'S ESTIMATE. Frank Girard, a scout, estimates the number of lodges at 742, though he cannot estimate the number of Indians. The latter cannot, however, be fewer than 3,500. The Indian camp, two miles from the agency, has been broken up. General Brooke has been ordered to march with his command from below the mission to this point and will reach here today. Part of his command will camp on the west bank of the White Clay, extending north of the Indians, while another will flank them on the west and south. BIG ROAD'S MESSAGE.

The advance grand of the hostiles had scarcely reached the agency when Big Road sent word that he had collected the arms of his followers and wanted to surrender them to the agency. When weapons came in they were found to consist of simply two shotguns, a heavy rifle, a broken carbine, two Sharp a neavy rine, a broken caroline, two charp-rifles and one Winchester—nine guns in all. This surrender is an evidence that the Indians do not propose to give up all their guns, and that they have hidden their best weapons in the hills. On this basis the entire hostile band would be expected to give up in the neighbor-hood of 100 guns, when it is known that every buck is the prosessor of a weapon. buck is the possessor of a weapon.

American Horse, Standing Bear, White Bird and Spotted Horse, friendly chiefs, are now asking protection from the hostiles who have camped among them.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE.

Another Conference.

Another big talk between General Miles and the hostile chiefs is expected. It is not likely that General Miles will be satisfied with the disarming of the Indians on the basis of Big Road's surrender. If he should not be, some people here consider that the difficulty is far from being settled. Will Visit the "Great Father."

Washington, January 15.—A telegram was received at the war department today from General Miles asking permission for a number of Sioux chiefs to visit Washington for a purpose of conferring with the president in regard to their condition. After consulting with Secretary Noble, Secretary Proctor telegraphed General Miles, giving the desired permission.

THEY FOUGHT WITH KNIVES.

A Jealous Husband Meets Up With His Wife's Lover. MORGANTON, N. C., January 15 .- [Special.]-Eight miles from this place, one of the bloodiest duels that was ever fought on North Carolina soil THE WARNING GIVEN.

For some time past, Joseph Harris, a young man, had suspected that John Alken was too intimate with his young wife, and on several occasions. Harris had told Aiken that his presence was not desired at his (Harris) house, and for him to discontinue his visits.

Aiken did not heed the warning that was given him by the jealous husband, but kept up his regular visits to Harris's house.

THE FATAL MEETING Today Harris and Aiken met in the public road, near this place, and some hot words passed. Harris drew a long-bladed knife from his pocket and made a desperate lunge at Alken. By this time Alken had his knife out, and both men out and slashed each other until, finally, Harris zell over dead, with the knife of his antagonist sti sticking where Aiken had plunged it.

WHO THE PARTIES ARE Soon afterwards the report went like wild fire all through Morganton, and a party was gotten up to search for the murderer. Both of the participants are young men and highly thought of in this community. This act on the part of these two men has inflamed the whole community, and while most of the neighborhood are in sympathy with emost of the neighborhood are in sympathy with the dead man's cause, and think that nothing but Aiken's death could avenge the wrong he committed, still some think that Harris was entirely too fast. Aiken has not been heard from since the duel. It is best for him to keep himself in a good hiding place, for if he is caught the worst is feared,

His Words Are Withering, and His Ire Is Aroused-He Begins at the Beginning, and Keeps Up Steam.

DOUGLASVILLE, Ga., January 15 .- [Special.]-Dr. W. S. Armistead has finished his course of lectures, and is now turning his attention to the ministers who, he claims, have been so wantonly criticising Meeting your reporter today, he said: "I would like to see you in my room few minutes."

When seated in his room he said: "I have a paper or article which I have prepared that I want THE CONSTITUTION to publish. Attacks on me have been made through the papers, and I think my an swers should be heard. Now that my lec tures are finished, I will turn my attention to these miserable creatures who call themselves ministers of the gospel. I will show them that W. S. Armistead, when it comes to satire, is more than an equal for the whole crowd." But the letter will speak for itself.

Here it is: DOUGLASVILLE, Ga., January 15 .- Editor Constitution: I am not in the habit of paying atten-tion to the yelps of a cur, the braying of an ass, the gibes of a buffoon, the attempts at wit of n, or "the wind and saw-dust" of a gourd-ed pulpit politician. m accustomed, sir, to class such animals to-

To beat a cur, to kick an ass, to satirize a buffoon, to lampoon a clown, to lance a windmill, or to lift the pelt from the back of one of these little pulpit ians that go about sawdusting the eyes of the people that they may get their hands into their pockets, and take their money for the great work of feeding them on wind, while pretending to preach the gospel—affords me, ordinarily, sir, no

I say, sir, that I no not ordinarily condescend ce such animals; but the present is an occaon that I cannot afford to be silent. I must not se apologies of preachers go unwhipped of Our Lord, engaged in the great work of exposing heresy and teaching truth, embraced every opportunity of tearing the sheep-skin from the backs of the pack of wolves that were ever howlbacks of the pack of worker that were ever howing on his track and snapping at his heels. If you will turn, sir, to the twenty-third chapter of the book of Matthew you will see with what bitterness, what scathing satire, what withering invective he anathematized just such a set of hypocrites (there are some honorable exceptions) as are those that disgrace the pulpits of our own and other cities.

Should I, emulating his jexample, lay on the lash rather freely, or use the knife with but little care for the condition of the hide, my apology is that I did not provoke the attack, nor begin the fight. It is for reasons that I will hereafter assign mperative reasons—that I undertake the si-cing of these little popul batteries that shoot he cartridges. I must teach them that it is ther healthy nor safe for them to shoot their blank cartridges. I must teach them that it is neither healthy nor safe for them to shoot their firecrackers at all times.

Mr. Editor, I don't know when I have been more outraged than I was by the ungentlemanly and un-Christian attacks of the hypocrites of Atlanta and Cartersville, recently. Could anything have been more dastardly than their seizure of the opportunity of shooting me in the back while engaged with an enemy in front? Could anything be more cheeky than for those oracles of Atlanta and Cartersville to be making responses without being consulted? Who gave them the authority to dictate what I must preach? What right has the pulpit politician to be sitting in judgment on my acts? What more contemptible than for a man calling himself a minister of the gospel to be condemning him as a crank, comparing him to a gladiator, arraigning him as a bigot, charging him as attempting to "fallen people in lust, mud and sawdust," or being as profitable employed as "hurrahing at a dog fight," and that when he was as ignorant of the work in which I am engaged, as a native of Namagualand is of classic Greek?

Solomon says, "He that answereth a matter before he heareth it, it is folly and shame unto him." (Proverbs XYHI:13).

On one occasion, Mr. Editor, the disciples came fore he neareth it, it is fony and sname unto him." (Proverbs XVIII:13).

On one occasion, Mr. Editor, the disciples came to Jesus saying, "Master, we saw one casting out devils in thy name, and he followeth not us," and we forbade him, because he followeth not us." But Jesus said, "Forbid him not. * * For he that is not against us is in our part." (Mark ix:38-40.)

But I must forbear to quote more scripture, for But I must forbear to quote more scripture, for 1 am commanded: "Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet and turn again and rend you." Matthew VII).

But, Mr. Editor, I would like to know what business it is of the Atlanta people if the citizens of this section wish to hear a series of lectures on "The Identity of the Church in all the Ages?" Who gave them the right, pray, to dictate to the people of Douglasville what they shall or shall not do?

It seems to us that Douglasville has the same It seems to us that Douglasville has the same right to object to Atlanta's course in anything she might please to engage in. The people of Douglasville to not regard themselves as wards of Atlanta, and are justly offended at Atlanta's playing the role of their guardian, unsolicited. Douglasville understands well enough that those little "dds" are voicing the sentiment of Atlanta—their role of pulpit demaggue, is perfectly understood here Douglasville understands well enough that those little "dds" are voicing the sentiment of Atlanta-their role of pulpit demagogue, is perfectly understood here. Douglasville will never consent to Atlanta's dictation in anything, "Let Atlanta attend to her own business," is the sentiment of Douglasville. Douglasville spits upon the attempt of Atlanta and Cartersville to crontrol, through their pulpit demagogues, her actions—say who she is to hear lecture or preach, and on what subject. In my next article, Mr. Editor, I shall take une the lee-lewis-jones-medonald fry and proceed to roast them. I promise you, sir, that I will roast them to the bone and marrow,—melt all the gravy of self-conceit out of them, and they shall be so dry and insipid by the time I am done barbecuing them, that there won't be a peace-advocate in all the land that can stomach them as a dish.

Hold a Meeting and Discuss the Question of a Fair for 1891. At a meeting of the exposition directors last evening, it was decided to hold an exposition and fair this year, provided the citizens and railroad signified their willingness to donate an amount equaling their subscription of 1889. In that year the citizens subscribed $9,000 and the railroads gave $7.500. The railroads are also asked to grant a 1 cent a mile rate for every day of the exposi-tion, which will commence October 19th and end November 7th.

The financial statement for 1890 was presented and approved. It showed the receipts and expendthres to be about even.

CLEVELAND'S GREAT SHOW.

Did you see and hear Cleveland's great minstrel company last night? If you did not, you missed a treat indeed.

What a wonderful fellow this Cleveland is Haverly, you know, tried to keep two minstrel companies afloat, but in vain; now young Clevel land comes along with three, each the equal if not the superior of any other in the country, and he makes money with them all. A phenomenon? Possibly so. It does seem phenomenal that he should be able to get together so many artists, each the first in his particular line; and that his shows should be so uniformly good. But the patrons of minstrelsy have grown to expect anything from Cleveland, and the result is, his nnovations call forth exclamations of wonderent rather than surprise.

All of which means that his "great consoldated" company gives a great show indeed.

It is impossible to say all that should be said idated" company gives a great show indeed.

It is simpossible to say all that should be said about an organization containing such people as Emerson, Dougherty Fagan, Schoolcraft, the Craggs, and the many other prominent members of this company. To begin at the beginning, the stage settings are magnificent. The singing is way beyond anything yet heard on the ministrel stage, furnished as it is by signor Benedetto, the male soprano, Fred Winans, the great baritone, W. E. Nankeville, Percy Denton and others. Billy Emerson, Hughey Dougherty, Luke Schoolcraft and Barney Fagan furnish the fun, and lots of it. The Alpine dance arranged by Fagan and danced by Fagan, Marks, Griffin, Bryce, Buckley and Talbut was a very pretry conception, and was, of course, well executed.

Fields and Hanson are "Out of Sight" in their instrumental comedy act. They deserve special mention for making a great deal out of an act that is time-worn in some hands. Then came Fagan's "Phantom Cuirassiars," a great spectacular march with electricial effects which is a decided innovation, and one that is in itself "worth the price of admission to the entertainment," in the language of the showman.

Billy Emerson's specialty, and Griffin and admission to the entertainment," in the language of the showman.

Billy Emerson's specialty, and Griffin and Marks's grotesque work were equal to the best of these artists.

Then the grand finale—the Craggs. They are beyond all comparison in their acrobatic feats and furnish a wonderfully strong closing scene. There is nothing on the stage that can compare with them.

In a word, Mr. Cleveland has fulfilled all promises, and his show is a great one indeed. Tonight, and at matinee and tomorrow night, the performance will be repeated.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Ch'ld, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria THE ROYAL ARCANUM.

The Installation of Officers and Banquet at Concordia Last Evening.

One of the most enjoyable gatherings of the season was the meeting of the Royal Arcanum at Concordia hall last evening.

The occasion was the installation of officers of Atlanta council recently alected.

Atlanta council recently elected.

The council new numbers about 400 members, and is one of the strongest benevolent secret orders in the city. There are two councils, Pledmont and Atlanta, and the officers of the former were invited to participate in the festivities last evening.

At 8:50 o'clock the large hall was filled with members and their invited guests, including quite a large number of ladies.

Wurm's orchestra furnished the music, and the musiclass were at their best during the entire evening.

Opening Exercises. On the platform the officers-elect and a number of other distinguished gentlemen were seated.

Judge W. L. Calhoun welcomed the visitors i Judge W. L. Calhoun welcomed the visitors in a neat and appropriate address. He regretted that the inclemency of the weather prevented a good many from being present. But it was his pleasure to excend to all present a most cordial welcome. His words concerning the order were very beautifully said. He said that the Royal Arcanum now numbers over 100,000 members, and stated that $90,000 members, and stated that $90,000 members, will run and stated that the sinstrumentality. Hon. R. J. Powell, grand regent of Georgia, was then introduced, who delivered a very pleasant address, He said he had the grip, or the grip had him, and had been very ill for some time.

"Fraternity and insurance" were the themes upon which he dwelt, and his illustrations were pointed and full of entertaining and interesting thought. His address covered the whole ground, and elaborated the aims and objects of the order in their best light.

The installment of the officers followed his address, and Colonel Powell conducted the exercises in a most admirable manner.

Mr. J. S. Fanchen, as regent of Atlanta council, came first, and passed the ordeal of any ing questions, and, receiving his instructions, was duly installed.

A Telling Talk. Rev. Dr. J. B. Hawthorne was introduced, and in his usual happy inanner made a telling talk in behalf of the order. He had been a member of the order for nine years, and yet he declared himself a novice regarding the Royal Arcanum.

He spoke of the two sorts of members in the churches, paying members and praying members, neither being a typical saint, and said that he had never risen above the dignity of a paying member the property of the said that he had never risen above the dignity of a paying member.

He spoke of the wonderfully beautiful ritual, and thought that the man who wrote it was a poet and a dramatist. He loved the social features, for he could but feel how good a thing it is to meet the brethren in the council chamber, men who are banded together for such noble purposes

In words of burning eloquence the distinguished orator spoke of the aims and successes of the order, and his speech was productive of enthusiastic applause.

A WOMAN BURNED

And There is Suspicion that a Man Ignited Her Clothing. Dora Garrett, a negro woman living at the corburned Wednesday morning between 2 and 3 o'clock. There is a sensational feature connected with the anair. The woman is so badly burned that she may die.

Wednesday morning the neighborhood was aroused by the woman's screams. Several men and women ran to her house and broke open the door, which was locked. They found her sitting on her bed, with her clothing in flames.

The flames were extinguished, but not before the woman had been very severely burned, almost from head to foot.

She seems to have told conflicting stories about how her clothing caught fire. One is that she was standing before the fire winding up the clock, when her skirts became ignited.

Eliza McGhee, a negro woman who lives in the neighborhood, states that Rosa Garrett, the injured woman, told her that a man set her afire with a match.

with a match.

The man's name, she says, is John—that is all she knew. He had been in her room, and she says when he applied the match he ran away.

It is quite probable that the statement about her skirts having caught from the open fireplace is the correct one, as the police have not been notified of the affair.

WHY JACK LOST THE FIGHT.

Fitzsimmons Is a Heavy Weight Sweated

New Orleans, January 15.—Jack Dempsey slept under the influence of opiates last night. The bridge of his nose is broken, and his ribs were so sore that the physician who accompanied him from the club administered a strong narcotic This morning he looked badly bruised and swoller about the face and mouth, and a piece of skin the size of a man's hand is scraped from the back of his neck on the left side. Kilrain says his nose was broken in the fourth round.

Dempsey was clearly outclassed from the start, but he stuck to it until nature would no longer xert herself.

exert herself.

Fitzsimmons fought fair and even, but he is simply a heavy weight sweated out and trained down to the requisite figure. He is as tail as Sullivan and with a longer reach. Muldon says that with twenty pounds more of muscle Fitzsimmons could fight any man living, Sullivan not barred. As a result of the fight it is not unlikely that the question of height and reach will hereafter cut as important a figure in the making of matches as that of weight.

And while there was not a great deal of interest manifested in the mill by the public generally some of the "sports" dropped their little money on the result.

There would probably have been more money up had there been more Fitzsimmons backers visible.

visible.
As it is, those who were anxious to put up their wealth on Dempsey—who thought they had a sure thing of it—are doubtless glad of that fact.
While Atlantians who interest themselves in such matters wanted Dempsey to knock out the Australian, still the news of the American slugger's defeat did not cause much feeling either one way or the other.

ger's defeat did not cause much feeling either one way or the other.

Atlanta isn't a slugging town, and nothing less than a Sullivan-Kilrain mill can arouse any sort of interest on that line.

The Body Recovered.—The body of Henry Stalsworth, the negro who fell in the well at the old Van Winkle ruins Wednesday afternoon, was recovered yesterday. The body was found standing straight up wedged in by a mass of bricks. He evidently did not die until some time after he fell, the bricks holding him fast and his death being caused by drowning.

Augusta, Ga., January 15 .- [Special.] - Augusta is at her best. She is brilliant and gay, blazing with numberless lights, bright with flags and bunting, crowded with strangers, the center of attraction for the state. That is what she will be next week. All up and down Broad street busy decorators are hard at work. Every merchant is having his store decorated, and every corporation is doing its best to help the good work. The inhabitants are working as a unit for the success of the carnival. Everybody will keep open

THE CITY HOSPITAL. The medical faculty has elected Mrs. E. L. Thomas matron of the city hospital. She will be assisted by two nurses. Drs. Gidding, Ford and Wright overlook the management of the hospital. The patients will receive the same kindly attention in the future as in the past.

THE TRIAL OF PATTILLO. Mr. L. H. Pattillo, against whom the last grand jury returned a true bill for murder for shooting Mr. Charles Hudson last year, is now in jail here. He was the traveling correspondent f The Chronicle. He was on the road when the bill was found, and returned voluntarily. The case will probably be tried next week and promises to be decidedly interesting.

THE COURTHOUSE. Judge Roney, in his charge to the grand jury, recommended that a new courthouse be built. There is great diversity of opinion as to its necessity. At present the outlook is gloomy for the advocates of the measure. The gran jury report is looked for with great interest.

THE RECEPTION LAST NIGHT. The reception last night at the reside Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Doughty, complimentary to Mrs. T. A. Lyon and Mrs. S. K. Davie, was one of the most brilliant of the season.

The parlors were beautifully decorated with vergreens and ferns, and Beerman's band, hidden in an alcove, furnished sweet music during the evening. A dainty and ele ant supper at 12 o'clock was heartily enjoyed. The tables and walls of the room were fescooned with roses and everything that taste could suggest and money procure, was there to make the many guests think themselves, for a time at least, in fairyland.

JOHN JOHNSON WILL PAY THE PEN-

The Head of a Desperate Gang, He Terror ized Opelika, and Shot One of His Pursuers Dead.

OPELIKA, Ala., January 15.—[Special.]—Some of the negroes around Opelika have petitioned Governor Jones to commute the sentence of John Johnson, the youthful colored murderer, who is to be hung here on the 16th instant, to imprisonment in the penitentiary.

After a careful examination of the facts, the governor has declined to interfere and John will pay the extreme penalty of the law for his crime on Friday. Johnson is one of a trio of young desperadoes who started out from Bir-mingham on a career of robbery and burglary several months ago.

A DESPERATE GANG.
They had armed themselves with pistols, and decided to shoot any one who attempte to arrest them. One of the gang was captured in LaGrange. The other two came on to Opelika. They stopped in West Point on the way and committed several offenses. An effort was made to capture them, but they escaped, and it is stated shot a negro who pursued them. John arrived in Opelika, but it is not known what became of his partner. He first entered Professor Pinckard's residence for the purpose of larceny. A young lady discovered him and gave the alarm. He struck at her with a stick and escaped. He was next found under a bed in Mrs. McLellan's residence. She called Raleigh Greene, a son of Captain R. M. Greene, who was passing her house, to come in and arrest him. He went in. The noise awoke him, and he jumped out of the house and ran, pursued by Raleigh. As he gained on him, John suddenly jerked out a pistol and fired at Raleigh, narrowly missing him, and track, but he eluded them. UNDER THE BED. The night after he shot at Master Raleigh Greene he was discovered by Mr. Robert Ingram, night watchman at the railroad depot, asleep in the new passenger depot. Ingram attempted to arrest him, but he awoke and Ingram pursued him, and just as he was about to overtake him he turned and fired and just missed Ingram, and again escaped. The officers became satisfied that he as making his way back to Birmingham, and nt word by the crew on a freight train that ent to Birmingham from Opelika for the ople along the road to watch out for him,

THE PURSUIT DOWN THE ROAD. The next morning about 8 o'clock Mr. tringfellow, a track walker, met him coming om the direction of Opelika with a pistol in and. As he had no warrant to arrest him, walked on with him to Gold Hill, a disnee of three miles, but could not get an poortunity to take the pistol from him. As on as they arrived at Gold Hill, Stringallow went to the store of Mr. P. J. Moore. justice of the peace, and told him hat he was satisfied that he was the negro anted in Opelika. The negro had kept on own the railroad, while Stringfellow had one into the store, and had got some distance. They immediately started in pursuit and soon vertook him. The negro had concealed the foore told him he was going to arrest him and nanded the pistol. John told him he would ive it to him, and Moore was standing right t him watching his right hand.

Suddenly he jerked it out of his shirt, where he had it concealed, with his left hand, and shot Moore through the heart, killing him instantly. The only words he spoke were, "I am killed." Stringfellow then jumped on the negro and threw him down. As he did so John fired at him, and the powder blackened his face. He, however, succeeded in taking the pistol from him, arresting him and carrying him back to Gold Hill.

TRIAL AND CONVICTION. As soon as he came up with the prisoner Deputy Sheriff Johnson and Chief of Police rough, who were in pursuit of him, came up and he was delivered to them, and they immediately started to Opelika with him just in time to prevent a lynching, as a number of the friends of Moore came up as they left and were terribly enraged. He was brought to Opelika and lodged in jail. He was indicted by the grand jury for murder in November, 1890, and after a fair and impartial trial, in which he was defended by able counsel appointed by the court, was convicted and sentenced by Judge J. M. Carmichael to be hung on the 16th day of January, 1891. The prisoner is only about fifteen years old, but is a confirmed and hardened criminal. Mr. P. J. Moore, whom he killed, was a merchant, and for many years a justice of the peace and one of the best citizens in Lee

Among the books added that have not been in the library before, may be mentioned: Daudet's "Immortal," Eber's "Bride of the Nile," Trollope's "Prime Minister," Black's "Sabima Zembra," Haggard's "Cleopatra," Holmes's "Homestead on the Hillside," Kindersley's "Heroes of Chivally," Henry's four excellent books for boys, "By Pike and Dike," "In the Reign of Terror," "Tale of Waterloo" and "With Clive in India."

A complete list will be published when all the books shall have arrived. It is interesting to note that of the $200 expended in the present order, of thich the books mentioned form but a small proportion, only $67 was spent on fiction and juvenhe literature. The remainder was put in books of pernanent value. There is but little doubt that such attractions will add largely to the member-lilip and material prosperity of the library.

COLUMBUS AND ATHENS

WANT PUBLIC BUILDINGS AND, TO ACCOMPLISH THEIR AIMS,

Petition for the Establishment of Branch Federal Courts at Those Places. Official Opinions.

"I have never, in any shape or form, opposed the bill now before the United States senate for the erection of a public building at Columbus," said Judge Newman in reply to a reporter's queries yesterday. "It does not affect me one way or the other, and I have not the slightest objection to its passage and approval.

"Congressman Grimes, of the Columbus district, recently wrote me a letter requesting my views on the subject, and in reply I stated that I personally had no objection to it, but the court officers—Marshal Buck, District Attorney Darnell and Clerk Fuller-strongly opposed it, on the ground that no necessity existed for the establishment of an additional court there; that it would increase their territory and give them additional work without

During the Cleveland administration, it will be remembered, a bill for the erection of a public building at Columbus passed the house and senate, but was vetoed by President Cleveland, who held that as no court was in existence at that place, there would not be business enough to warrant its

The people of Columbus have endeavored to get around that objection by petitioning for the establishment of a United States court at Columbus, which would necessitate such building as they want.

To the northern district will be added, provided they are successful, the counties of Har-ris, Talbot, Taylor, Marion, Chattahoochee, Stewart, Sibley, Sumter, Webster, Quitman, Muscogee, Clay, Randolph, Terrell, Calhoun, Muscogee, Clay, Randolph, Terrell, Calhoun, Early, Baker, Miller, Decatur.

The enterprising people of Athens, also ambitious to possess a federal building, have followed the example set by Columbus by presenting a petition for the stablishment of a branch court at that place. The court would include the counties of Habersham, Banks, Franklin, Hart, Jackson, Madison, Elbert, Walton, Clarke, Oconee, Oglethorpe, Morgan and Greene.

The officers of the latter court claim there exists no present or prospective necessity for

In the case of Wyly G. Cooper vs. the Richmond and Danville railroad, for injuries sustained by his wife, Jane H. Cooper, a verdict for the plaintiff for $3,000 was yesterday returned in the United States circuit court.

The damage suit of Selitha Alford vs. the Georgia Pacific railroad, for an ultimately fatal injury sustained by her eleven-year-old child, Lou Jessie Alford, on December 29, 1887, was next taken up. The little girl on that day attempted to cross the defendant's tracks near their shops, in this city. While attempting to cross under a box car—encouraged, so the plaintiff's declaration states, by the company's agents and employes—the train to which it was attached was suddenly set in motion, the wheels of the car running over Robert Downing, the talented young American tragedian, will be seen in his new play, "The Saracen," on next Monday evening and at a special matinee to be given Tuesday afternoon. "The Saracen" will be preceded by a lovely curtainriser, the comedy of "French Marriage," in which both Mr. Downing and Miss Blair will appear. On Tuesday evening Mr. Downing will appear in his great impersonation of "The Gladiator," in which he has no peer or rival on the stage of the present day.

That sounds miraculous, and yet one may become temporarily deaf on account of blood poison settling in the ear, and then find quick relief by using B. B. (Botanic Blood Baim.)

John W. Weeks, Decatur, Ga., writes: "Six months ago I had a pain in my ear and in a few days it discharged matter. Then I grew deaf and could not hear at all. I began the use of B. B. B, and the running of my ear soon ceased and I now hear, while my health is much improved and I feel

You like doughnuts, try this recipe. Three eggs, two-thirds cup fine granulated sugar, half cup sweet milk, one teaspoonful cream tartar, half teaspoonful soda, half a nutmeg, salt to taste, and flour, to mix soft dough. If your stomach is weak and will not digest the food your appetite craves, assist it by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine gives tone and strength to the digestive organs, promotes a natural appetite, and benefits the whole system.

To All Parties Who Contemplate Going to Louisiana or Texas.

The Queen and Crescent route is the shortest, quickest, cheapest and best line to all points west. I do not ask you to look at our map to prove to you that our line is the shortest. You can take the map of all other lines leading to Texas and you will see that they give us almost an air-line from Atlanta to Fort Worth, Tex., passing through Birmingham, Meridian, Vicksburg and Shreve-port, or New Orleans. This line being the shortest, of course it is the quickest, and it being the quick-est, you know it is the cheapest, and being the cheapest it is the best line.

Why, just think of this, only two changes of cars Atlanta to Fort Worth, Tex., on all of our regular trains. The Queen and Crescent route makes special low rates to all emigrants moving west. Emigrants going this line are put in first-class coaches, baggage checked through to destination. One hundred and fifty pounds of baggage checked free with each whole ticket; seventy-five pounds to each half ticket. Agents of this line will meet emigrants at the nearest railroad station with through tickets and through check, and will accompany them to Atlanta and see that they are put on the fast limited train for the west. One reason given for the existence of "A Washington Bible-Class" is the desire of mothers to have some reasonable system of faith to teach to their active-minded children. Thoughtful mothers will find in the book suggestions that cannot fail to be helpful to them in presenting Bible stories to their children without making too great a draft on their creduity. It is a book of hints rather than systems, but the hints are in the direction of nature and common sense.

Additions.

"There can be little doubt," says Professor Le Conte, "that we are now on the eve of the greatest change in traditional views that has taken place since the birth of Christianty. This change means not a readjustment of details only, but a reconstruction of Christian theology." It is because I am firmly convinced of the truth of these profound words that I have written this book. Evolution is "in the air," and its fundamental tenets are being accepted (perhaps unconditionally) by all classes of minds. It behoves us, then, as religious teachers to recognize this fact, and adjust our theology accordingly.—From The preface.

ATLANTA, GA., JANUARY 16, 1891.

The Free Coinage Bill. We print elsewhere a very interesting report of an interview on the silver question with the Hon. L. F. Livingston, president of the alliance, and member-elect to congress from this district. Colonel Livingston calls attention to the fact that the limitation of the free coinage of silver to the output of our own mines would add but little to the amount of currency now in circulation, even if it covered the contraction now going on in the notes of national banks.

As a matter of fact, such a limitation would be an unfair and unnecessary discrimination against silver, and would tend to degrade the metal in spite of the law. The American people who are in favor of free coinage know nothing and care nothing about the American miners. What they propose to do is to restore silver to its old relations with gold. They want no discrimination made against the white metal in any shape or form. They are not seeking to benefit the owners of American silver mines, but to benefit the whole country What they want is not the free coinage o American silver, but the free coinage of silver. This fact has been sufficiently dem

There are a great many speculators and capitalists in Wall street and its environs who are incapable of taking a broad view of this important question, and there are a great many successful financiers whose knowledge and experience do not extend beyond the comparatively narrow limits of their own operations. It is a favorite argument with these narrow-minded and ignorant persons that the enactment of the free coinage bill into a law will result in flooding our reopened mints with foreign silver. This they would regard as dangerous inflation, though it is difficult to perceive how the coinage of hard money on a parity with gold can take the shape of inflation. Ordinary people have been taught to believe that the issue of paper notes largely in excess of a hard money basis is inflation, but it has been left to the American financial gump to discover that the coinage of hard money is inflation. The financial gump will make another discovery after awhile namely, that the American people care nothing whatever for his opinions on any subject.

In the face, however, of the bold assertions of the financial gump, the mints of British India have been for years past and will continue to be open to the unlimited coinage of legal tender silver at a coinage valuation 7 per cent higher than our re opened mints would value silver. Nobody has ever heard of the flooding of the Indian mints, nor is it probable that the bullion which has been flowing in that direction would be diverted to the United States to b coined into money at a lower valuation. There is no theory about this.

As to the passage of the free coinage bill by republican votes, we are of the opinion t the democrats have no grounds jection. The democratic voters of the country and the democrats in congress have forced the issue, and they will continue to force it. All the real republican leaders are opposed to it, and the republican newspa pers are a unit in opposing it. The people. however, have taken the matter in hand, and have gone back to the good old democratic doctrine of hard money and a heap of it. .

Another Gold Bug Organ.

The Chattanooga Times, which for som reason or other is disposed to regard the farmers as an inferior class, joins with The Albany, New York, Journal in denouncing our advocacy of financial relief for the farmers as "buncombe."

The Times says that "no class in this country has had so much done for them in the way of state and national nursing as the farmers. It further proceeds to remark that the farmers should learn to manage their business in a business way, and keep out of the dirty pool of politics. The charge is made that it is the incompetent and loafers among the farmers who are making a fuss about financial reform.

Our contemporary seems to have gone over to the gold bugs, bag and baggage. It first tells us that the farmers are favored more than any other class, and then slanders them by saying that their leaders, and, in fact, the whole alliance are incompetent and

As The Times can see no virtue in the farmer, perhaps it will explain why Edward Atkinson, Jay Gould, Chauncey Depew, Senator Stanford and a host of other capitalists, economists and statesmen unite in the opinion that the country needs financial orm, and that the farmers are unduly opessed by the tariff, by the national bank ng system and by other burdens. It is not likely that our stark mad contemporary is mad enough to denounce all the reformers as incompetent and loafers. It seems to reserve its abuse for the farmers alone.

Saving and Investing.

According to a summary published in The Chicago Herald, the deposits of individuals last year in the savings banks of the six New England states, New York, New Jersey d Pennsylvania amounted to $1,279,000. 000, against $1,214,000,000 the year before ease of $65,000,000. Last year there were 3,520,000 depositors, more than one in every five inhabitants. Outside of the states mentioned the savings banks' deposits last year were less than

Why this tremendous difference? The sople of the west and south are industrious savings banks they make a very

The explanation suggested by our Chic rary is probably the true one. In the first place, there are comparatively few savings banks in the west and south. In the second place, the opportunities for investment in those regions are so attractive that people are putting their money in tools, stock, business, lands and homes. Under such conditions it is impossible to quote figures that will show the money saved and invested every year, but it is reasonable to suppose that the sum total would make it apparent that New England, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania are by no means so disproportionately prosperous as their savings banks would appear to indicate.

The northeast is saving. The west and south are saving and investing. It is all right. Development is better than either hoarding or lending money.

Class Taxation Again.

In a former article in these columns reference was made to Governor Hill's presentation of the inequalities of taxation in the state of New York.

The Boston Globe believes that the general average of property in most of our states, if properly assessed, would show that personal property is worth about as much as real estate. But in New York real estate is assessed at $3,298,323,431, while personal property is assessed at only $385,329,131, bout one-eighth the amount of the real

Clearly, this difference makes it evident that there is a successful attempt to shirk taxation, and real estate is left to bear 89 per cent of the burden. Something of this inequality exists in every state. The farmer and owners of real estate generally are beginning to protest. They are not discussing the theory of taxation. What they demand is the enforcement of the law, so that the just burdens of taxation will fall more equally upon all classes. Of course, the trouble is that it is easier to evade a tax on personal property than it is to evade a tax on real property, but it is still possible to make assessors more vigilant, besides enforcing the penalties for dishonest evasions. In this republic, class taxation is an injustice that will not be much longer tolerated. A new leaf should be turned over without de

The Foraker-Wood Forgery Case.

The report of the congressional investigating committee, which has been considering the facts and the evidence in the Foraker-Wood forgery case has been made at last. It is an affair that has been hanging fire for some time, and the report, as Mr. Halstead felicitously remarks, is belated, and to this extent it coincides with the republican idea of a whitewashing process. Foraker is no longer a candidate for anything, and his name can be mentioned with impunity. Mr. Halstead is merely an itinerant editor, and it is proper to give him a slam in order to keep up the reputation of the republican party for strict morality.

The report doesn't seem to be a terrific one, since the attempt to assassinate Governor Campbell's reputation was not a success. The able efforts of Foraker and Halstead to destroy the governor seem to have altogether lost their point. All that the committee car do is to condemn in a very mild way, and its condemnation seems to ignore Foraker. the master spirit, and to extend only to Halstead, who was honest enough to explode the whole affair.

And yet, the committee is probably right from a republican point of view. The fact that Mr. Halstead's honesty was not appreciated is already advertised by his retirement to Brooklyn.

THE GRIP, after playing havoc in New Orleans is gradually abating, and it is expected that in about ten days it will be entirely gone. It has raged in New Orleans for two months, and is very active in other localities. With favorable weather the disease will probably depart in a short tim but it will not do to underestimate the consequences of exposure at this season. Here in Atlanta we have good reason to adopt every pru-dential safeguard against this dangerous malady.

All this is against the civilization of the age. THE BOSTON ADVERTISER gives some interesting statistics connected with the progress of electricity: "There were 1,346 lighting stations in the United States, Canada and Mexico on the 1st of January, 1890, divided as follows: United States, 1,265; Canada, 74, and Mexico, 7. On the Ist of bases, 1,265; Canada, 74, and Mexico, 7. On the States, 1,265; Canada, 74, and Mexico, 7. On the lst of the present month these three countries had 1,873 lighting stations, of which the United States contained 1,543, Canada 120 and Mexico 10, an average increase of 27 per cent. The increased use of electricity for lighting was, doubtless, much greater than the increase in stations. The progress made in applying electricity to speet car traction has there were 162 roads operated wholly or in part by electricity, or 18 per cent of all the street car roads. January 1, 1891, the number of electric roads was 281, an increase of 119, or 74 per cent in one year. This shows that many roads heretofore operated by horse or cable power must have substituted electricity, as the increase in street car companies was only 5 per cent during 1890."

EDWARD POWERS sets forth a novel theory in a book called "War and Weather." The idea under book called "War and Weather." The idea consideration is the belief that heavy ar consideration is the belief that heavy artillery firing sets in operation certain motions and forces that cause condensation of acqueus vapor, thus producing rain. Mr. Powers has collected a great mass of evidence showing the connection between artillery firing and rains, and presents a theory for the assumed direct relation between the two. From the statistics given it is seen that nearly all of the important battles of our civil war and the war with Mexico, and most of the great battles in other parts of the world, have been followed by rain. The author's idea is for the government to estab-The author's idea is for the governm lish by experiment whether or not rainstorms can be produced at any time desired by firing heavy cannons, and if so, to make use of the fact for the use of agriculture, especially in the arid regions of our western plains. This cost would be insignificant when compared with the resulting for a rainstorm is often worth millions to the country. Mr. Powers's theory may appear visionary, but he fortifies his position with a visionary, but he fortifies his position with a great amount of testimony from various observers, all of which go to show that battles almost use rain, and that he has what ered at least a fair subject for ininvariably cause estigation and experiment.

A Bright Outlook. From The New York Herald.

The careful forecast figured out by our Wash ington correspondent shows that the republicamajority in the senate, which is now fourteen, wil be only six from March 4, 1891, to March 4, 1893 and that at the latter date it will in all probability give way to a democratic majority.

This indicates the dawn of a brighter day for the people. In March, 1893, a democratic president may be expected to take his seat in the white house. With a democratic congress at his side the government will then be in the hands of a party disposed to undo much of the mischief done by republican rule.

First and foremost will come tariff reformcutting down of McKinley prices and a consequent cheapening of the necessaries of life. This will be a welcome boon to wage earners. Then the drain on the treasury caused by recklessly extrav-agant pension legislation will demand attention, and should there be an infamous force law the statute book that will call for sur mary treatment. When these and other evils ar remedied the way will be cleared for the enact ment of important measures affecting the busiess interests of the country, which have been neglected by a republican congress given to advancement of party schemes.

To realize these blessings the people have only to speak at the coming elections as they spoke the last.

He seems to believe firmly that there is something in him prevent defeat, and his very which prevent defeat, and his very confidence seems to inspire his friends to a like belief. Let me give you an instance. I was, as you remember, for several years editor of The Police Gazette. Now, while I made it a practice not to associate with or have anything in particular to do with the fighters, I did supervise the drawing up of the papers. I remember when Dempsey came to sign articles to fight Fogarty. Fogarty was in the pink of condition, was several years younger than Dempsey, and looked, when they met that day, as if he were able to eat up his antagonist. Dempsey, on the other hand, was just recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia. He looked sick and weak and seemed about the last man you would pick from a about the last man you would pick from a crowd as a fighting man. Mr. Gordon told of an interesting incident showing Dempsy's nerve. "I remember," he said, "the day Jack came

"There he was, as gay and happy, apparently, as a man could be, and yet the bones of both hands were broken as he indicated. The pain must have been great, but he didn't seem to mind it. Yet that injury would have sent any of us to bed.' Mr. Gordon is, as I have said, known as

He comes south this year as the representative of Mr. Stuart Robson, the great comedian, who will soon be here with "The Henrietta." Mr. Gordon is here with "The Henrietta." Mr. Gordon is of Mr. Robson's latest success, "Is Marriage a Failure," which critics declare to be the day. Mr. Robson is holding that comedy in reserve for next season, though he has produced it in several of the big cities of the east. The play, as the title would seem to indicate, is based on some of the funny complications of domestic life, and in it comedy and pathos are said to be commingled with a delicacy seldom achieved by mingled with a delicacy seldom achieved

Mr. Robson will be in Atlanta week after next, I believe. "The Henrietta" is one of the most delightful comedies on the American stage, and Mr. Robson's in it, after an absence of five years, will be an event of much more

Senator Tom Lamb, of Brunswick, who is nimself interested financially in the business, tells me that the outlook for oyster culture of the coast of Georgia is all that the gentlemen who have put their money in the business could possibly wish-and that, of course, means a great deal. The same reports come from the New England capitalists who ha vested their money in the Georgia beds, and who were, by the way, instrumental in securing the passage of the laws which make oyster culture here practicable. One company of Connecticut men with Captain Isaac S. Brown, of New Haven, at its head, has invested $50,000 in the Georgia plant. Speaking of the situation with Captain Brown said: "Last spring the con pany planted 100,000 bushels of seed oysters nd by the great rate of development in south ern waters it expects to take up in return for worth at least $200,000. Such a return will enable the company to pay a dividend of 25 cont the f the figures that many New Haven ovster farms have paid. commenting upon this, writes:

This opportunity is made apparent from the fact that a Baltimore dealer has been vainly endeavoring to place a contract for 200 gallons per day with New Haven dealers. There will be little surplus stock to ship to the southern dealers from Con-necticut, and in fact the local dealers may want ovsters from the south. TWO WOMEN CLAIM THE SAME DEAD MAN AS A HUSBAND.

And Out of These Conflicting Claims ery Sensational Damage Suit Against the East Tennessee Railroad Co.

Two wives to one husband and

Two claimants for damages growing out of That is the queer state of facts that ha reloped in the courts of Fulton county.

On the 22d day of December, 1887, old Anthony Roberts, a mulatto, who lived near Moore's mills in Clayton county, went out into a cut on the East Tennessee railroad to see about his dog that had been run over and

He was ninety years of age, very decrepit, and was obliged to hobble around with a stick. While in the cut a passenger train came thundering along, and the poor old negro met the same fate as his faithful dog, and their mangled remains were found side by side after the train passed.

Anthony left a wife, a very black woman, and a large family of children, all of whom were bright mulattoes.

Some Quick Work. Jennie Roberts, the wife of the dead man, did not wait long, for the records show that on the next day, December 23d, probably before the clods had settled on Anthony's coffin, she brought suit for $10,000 damages.

Messrs. Bray & Mitchell were retained by the plaintiff, and filed the suit in Fulton superior court.

On January 9, 1889, the case came on for trial before Judge Marshall J. Clarke, and on the 14th the jury brought in a verdict for $550 amages.

During the course of this trial there was a ritness for the railroad who had a very sensational story to tell. She was an old and hagard "mammy," who claimed to be sixtynine years old. "Before the War."

There were twenty-five witnesses examined, and the burden of the evidence was in favor of her claim.

Scarce had the suit been settled when the tables were turned, and through her attorney, Colonel James H. Austin, "Mirandy Roberts," instead of "Amanda Williams," filed a suit for $12,000 in the city court against the East

This case is now pending, and on the board, or the present week.

Both Jennie and Mirandy have large family Both Jennie and Mirandy have large family connections, and they have scoured the country for evidence on either side, one of the witnesses for the defense being Anthony's family physician, Dr. Wright, of Ellenwood, who treated Jennie during her husband's life. Captain C. W. Wells, law agent for the company, has secured about twenty-five witnesses to prove that Jennie Roberts is the legal wife.

A Nice Law Point. One of the peculiar features of this case is this: If both women establish their claims to being the lawful wives of the patriarchal Anthony, then Mirandy, or Mandy, Roberts will be as much entitled to share in the verdict

Little Rock, crossing the Mississippi at Arkansas City.

It is the purpose of these roads to run through trains between these two cities, without change of cars.

The contract has also been let and work commenced to fill in the gap between Warren and Camden, Ark., forty miles, which will give, when completed, the shortest line between Atlanta and Texarkana, and to various points in northern and middle Texas.

This, also, will greatly benefit the Georzia Pacific

A rumor is current that the Central railcoad will run a branch line through Sandersville from the main line now in operation from Savannah to Macon. It would have been a splendid thing for Sandersville had the main ne run through here when first constructed hearly fifty years ago. Two reasons are assigned as the cause of its missing this town. one is that the people did not want it; they were afraid it would hurt the town instead of benefiting it. This feeling prevailed in many other com-munities when the construction of rairoads first began. Another is that the road was originally projected from Savannah to Atunta. Just as it was within a few miles of moders ville another road was projected from twon to Atlanta, and the Central then dead to Macon to connect with the new road, head of going straight through Sandersville ates that the last reason is correct. The road makes an elbow coming up from Macon to Tennille, three miles from Sandersville, and

It is whispered that the East Tennessee system has an eye on the right of way over the new Kentucky and Indiana bridge at Louisville. Local officials are at a loss to understand the object in making this acquisition. The system controls the Louisville Southern and it is possible that a deal is on with the immon people, who have an air-line from ouisville to Chicago. If these two systems join hands, there will be a sharp competition with the Louisville and Nashville for north and south travel, and the East Tennessee system will have a good route from Chicago to Southeastern points.

It is said by those who know that the Vestern and Atlantic is now doing just iouble the amount of freight business it did before it fell into the hands of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad. The cause of this, it is said, is because freights that were shipped from Nashville to Montgomery over the Ellen N. are now shipped to Atlanta over the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis and the Western and Atlantic. The present business of the Western and Atlantic, is simply terrific. Besides using all old engines on the Western and Atlantic and running on extra time, ten engines of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. ouis have been put on the Western and Atlantic, and still the yards and the sidings from Chattanooga to King's Bridge are full of freight cars—in the neighborhood of 200 cars waiting for transportation.—Chattanooga News.

The South Carolina railway is handling an average of eighty cars of fertilizers a day, and soon will be handling even more. About half of this amount is shipped to Georgia and the balance to points in South Carolina.

Darius Miller, traffic manager of the Cincinati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific and Alabama Great Southern roads, yesterday assumed also the duties of traffic manager of the New Orleans and Northeastern, Alabama and Yleksburg and Vicksburg, Shreveport and Padific roads. The appointment of Mr. Miller as traffic manager of the three roads above named oill make him traffic manager of all the lines hat were in the Queen and Crescent system before the Brice-Thomas people obtained dontrol of the Cincinnati Southern and Alabama Great Southern roads. The jurisdiction of General Freight Agent Ryan and General Hassenger Agent Edwards extends over the add Queen and Crescent lines, so it is evident all the lines are to be worked together and in harmony. On February 1st, a Cincinnati patr says, Mr. Miller will be made traffic manter of the Louisville Southern, another road controlled by the Brice-Thomas people.

THE GOVERNOR AND PROF. WHITE

About the Negro College—Conflicting Oyster and Phosphate Claims—The Buchauan Memorial—Under One Head.

The governor is going ahead with the arrangements for establishing a negro college, a branch of the State university, under the provisions of an act passed at the last session of the legislature. Professor H. C. White was here yesterday in consultation with the governor. They dis-cussed generally the selection of a board of trustees, location of the college, and details of building and equipment.

No change in the governor's plans has been made by the publication of the letter of Com-In fact, the governor has received no official communication of any sort upon the subject.

Until he does, his original plan of procedure will be carried out. Commissioner Harris may succeed in having the basis of apportionment changed, in the matter of dividing the money between the white and colored people.

He may not. "There are good reasons," said the governor vesterday, "for considering the basis contem plated in the bill a just and equitable one. This is not a common school appropriation, but a college appropriation, and should be distributed in nearly the proportion of college students to be furnished by the two races. Nobody will claim that for every fifty-three bona fide white college stu-dents there are forty-seven negro college students. That is nearer the propor-tion of common school students, but it is a matter easy of proof that for every colored student fitted to take a regular college course there are at least two white students.

"I have addressed two communications to cretary Noble, but have received no reply. I wrote just as soon as the law was passed by the legislature. Then I wrote later, and asked for an answer, but none has been received. 'So, believing that the basis proposed in the bill is a fair and just one; and believing that the secretary can be made to see and understand and acquiesce in that, we are going along quietly perfecting arrangements.

"Should another basis of apportionment be insisted upon, I would have ample power under the act to change the basis for the sake of agreement with the federal authorities.

of agreement with the federal authorities.

"Should the basis proposed in the bill be accepted, as it should be and probably will be, and afterwards it becomes apparent that the negroes really ought to have more than one-third, the governor could at any time change the basis of apportionment."

The names of the five trustees will be announced in a few days.

It has been decided that they will all be white people.

The trustees decide the location of the school.
So far, Milledgeville has shown most anxiety to have the school.
Americus and Macon also have made some effort in that direction.

State College of Agriculture and Mechanical

Arts, said yesterday:
"I had hoped that the commissioner of education would recognize the fact that there was a white college of agriculture in existence and in operation, and that the state had done all that it possibly could do, within the time, to provide a collegiate education for colored students, and that he would accordingly recommend that the full amount be forwarded to the governor, trusting the state to use the proper appropriation for the whites, and to reserve the appropriation for the colored to be applied to the colored college as soon as it was established. Commissioner Harris has considered it his official duty to put a strict construction upon the federal law. Of course we recognize his right to do so, and consequently will be somewhat delayed in the receipt of the money. Governor Northen will take all necessary steps to inaugurate the colored college with all haste consistent with the due deliberation necessary in so important a matter. So soon as the colored college is organized, no doubt the money will be forwarded to the state. As to the division between the white and colored colleges, I cannot but think that Commissioner Harris has failed to consider the fact that the money is appropriated for colleges and not for (common schools, and that a division in proportion to population is by no means just and equitable. Our state law gives the governor full power to negotiate and arrange this matter with the secretary of the interior.

At the proper time the governor will address all necessary and proper representations to the secretary, and we have no doubt that the basis of division will be satisfactory to all parties.
There need be no apprehension but that Governor Northen will justly and fully protect the interests of both races in the conduct of this

Colonel Goodyear represented extensive phosphate interests.

These interests, it seems, conflicted in some cases. The two gentlemen agreed upon an amicable settlement in the matter, and called amicable settlement in the matter, and called upon the governor to have the state recognize their separate rights, under the agreement, to the same bodies of land.

The governor consulted at some length with the secretary of state. The matter really involves a conflict between lease and headright laws, and finally without taking any immediate action the governor referred the whole matter to Judge Citford Anderson for an opinion. In Memory of Hugh Buchanan.

In Memory of Hugh Buchanan.

On a page of the records of the supreme courts—a page set apart for that purpose—this entry was made yesterday:

To the Memory of
Hon. Hugh Buchanan,
Ex-Judge of the Coweta Circuit.
Born September 15, 1823.

Died June 11, 1890.

This was done in pursuance of a resolution embodied in a memorial adopted in honor of the memory of this distinguished jurist and stainless gentleman.

The committee who drafted the memorial are P. H. Brewster, John S. Bigby, W. A. Turner, N. J. Ham, J. W. Park, R. T. Dorsey, T. W. Lathan, T. M. Longley and Samuel Freeman.

The KNIFE and INSTRUMENT have been used a SIMPLE HERB that absolutely CERS all mucous membrane diseases. It alminilates, dissolves and removes all morbid conditions and diseases from the nose, throat, uretha and bladder, such as CATARRI, HAY FEVER, STRICTURE, LUCORRIEKA, and all diseases belonging to that class.

The attention of surgeons in the United States army and navy have been called to this remedy; thay have tested it and speak of it in the highest terms.

No one has it but us and no one can get it only from us. The trial bottles we have given to a few intelligent physicians for trial have elicited a unimber of requests asking us if we will sell it to physicians. We now have the matter under consideration. In the meantime the afflicted must be satisfied to apply to us.

It can be used at home by the patient with success, and a great many patients have been cured by self-treatment. This remedy is becoming more popular every day, and is destined to take its place as one of the most important discoveries of the century in medical science—a certain and absolute ure for all "Urino-Genital diseases." LIVINGSTON ON SILVER

THE ALLIANCE PRESIDENT ON RE-SULTS OF FREE COINAGE.

It Is a Great Victory for the Agricultural South and Agricultural Northwest.

The political effect of the senate's action on the free coinage of silver now becomes an interesting problem.

In the campaigns of 1890 the proposition was widely discussed and was taken up with especial vigor by alliance speakers, who de-nounced in scathing terms those congressmen who voted against the measure or dodged the issue by absenting themselves when that vote

Now that free coinage appears to be a probability the following interview with President Livingston, of the Georgia alliance, is to the

"What good results, if any, are to come of free silver as passed the senate on yesterday?"
"The free coinage of silver," said Colonel Livingston, "if limited to the present average output of silver mines in this country would add but very little to the amount of carrency in circulation. Indeed, it is doubtful if the increase would cover the monthly contraction now necessarily going on as to national bank now necessarily going on as to national bank notes. Therefore from that standpoint the people could not hope for practical relief. But if the measure results, as it no doubt will, in stimulating silver-mining and in increasing the output, the amount of currency will be accordingly increased.

"The demonetization of silver in 1873 by congress, whether fraudulently done or honestly done, or as Ingalis accounts for it "that both houses of congress and the president had been hypnotized by the money power," diddemonstrate one thing, that the money power that was then (1873) moving heaven and earth to confrol the currency had countrol of and earth to control the currency had control of congress and that the general welfare of the country, which is so largely dependent on the producing classes, was lost sight of. This ac-tion of congress, with much more on the same line, created in the minds of the masses an line, created in the minds of the masses an alienation towards the government and a distribution to legislate for the people. This want of confidence in congress and the universal disastrous effect upon the business of the country, that followed the demonstration of silver and the contraction of the currency, extended in time to all classes and affected every enterprise.

"The rule has been, therefore, for these sev-

"In rule has ocen, wherefore, for those several years past that everybody has been on the outlook for panics and hard times.

"This condition of affairs has caused the hoarding of a large per cent of the currency. It has caused the banks to be careful to be enabled at all times to be able to put their hands upon money enough to cash their deposits, which is largely the cause of the trouble at this time).

"This want of confidence and the natural consequences, to a people who are doing the business of the country upon a credit, as we have exclusively done since 1876, is always the forerunner of revolution, either peaceable or otherwise.

"Now this action of the senate, if coucurred in by the house and president, will be a revo-lution in financial legislation—such legislanution in mancial legislation—such legisla-tion as the masses that compose both political parties have demanded for the last two years in such a manner that congress could not mis-take the financial result.

"The passage offthe bill will indirectly, inde-pendent of the output from our own mines, bring a large influx of silver into this country.

"They will grimple to avoort and invent

"That will stimulate export and import trade between this and other nations, which will enhance the price of our exports to a surprising extent. Cotton, corn, wheat and such other products of this country as must be consumed in a given time will immediately consumed in a given time will immediately advance in market price, and this will be a God-send to the farmers and producers of this "The passage of the silver bill will put the money power of this country and that operating here from other countries upon notice that, if they contract or withhold the currency for selfish purposes, congress will inflate with fiat money. This will cause them to let up, and money now under their control will, to a great extent, subserve its legitimate purpose.

"The, passage of the silver bill

"The, passage of the silver bill will restore, in a large degree, the lost confidence with the people, and the banks, and business upon a credit basis, will be resumed and perhaps, in this re-spect, will come the greatest good to our people of all classes and callings."

"What will be the political effect of free 'The passage of the bill will certainly largely benefit the democratic party, as the measure is and has been construed to be a "The vote of the republicans and the spee of Ingalls and others, if followed up in house and approved by the president, will, in my opinion, go very far toward mending up their broken fences in the west. If the house does not follow up the senate's action, the final death knell of the republican party will be sounded—and if it does, the country is brought face to face with the fact that the relief given has been brought about by the democracy, and that the republicans have simply been forced into taking the step. So that the democracy has won a great fight, and whatever way it goes in the house, will be to the gain of our party, which is practically solidly backing the measure.

"One other decided advantage will accrue to this country from the passage of the bill, and that is, the fact will be acknowledged that the agricultural south and the agricultural northwest have won a signal victory over the long pampered east, and that this victory will result n the permanent control of the national government.

"One other only will I mention (and there are many others). The sectional lines that have been so long drawn to the damage of this fair land of ours will have received a fatal blow. The idea of John Ingalls standing and voting alongside with Senator Brown and Colquitt and other democratic senators from the south is a revelation to the world."
